Report type	Prepared for	Review period
Board-ready PDF	Example SME finance team	Sample month

Executive summary

The review identified a concentrated set of payment-risk items requiring management attention. Most alerts related to duplicate-looking supplier bills, newly changed beneficiary details, and repeated same-day payment activity.

37 Alerts reviewed	8 High-risk items	4 Recommended controls

Overall conclusion

The sample organisation shows a moderate control posture. Immediate value would come from supplier-bank-detail checks, duplicate bill review, and a recurring monthly Client Control Pack.

Risk movement

Area	Current position	Movement	Management view
Duplicate-looking payments	6 alerts	Up	Review before supplier payment runs
New supplier details	4 alerts	Stable	Confirm changes with named supplier contact
Large same-day payments	3 alerts	Up	Require second approval above threshold
Open review items	5 items	Down	Close with reviewer notes before month end

Recommended next controls

Priority	Control	Owner	Suggested cadence
High	Verify supplier bank-detail changes before payment	Finance lead	Every payment run
High	Review duplicate-looking bills above materiality threshold	Bookkeeper / AP	Weekly
Medium	Add reviewer notes to all high-risk alerts	Finance manager	Monthly
Medium	Export Client Control Pack for leadership review	Accountant / advisor	Monthly

Board discussion points

Question	Why it matters
Are supplier-bank-detail changes independently checked?	This is a common control gap in invoice and payment fraud scenarios.
Which payment thresholds require second approval?	Repeated payments below thresholds can indicate weak approval design.
Are review decisions recorded consistently?	Decision history supports audit preparation and internal accountability.
Can monthly risk evidence be shown to management?	A regular pack helps leadership spot trends before they become losses.

Suggested board action

Approve a 30-day controlled pilot using Xero supplier bills or anonymised exports. The pilot should test alert quality, reviewer workflow, and the usefulness of the Client Control Pack for management reporting.
